Moral Sussion on a Ram. When a friend of ours, whom we call Agricola, was a boy, he lived on a tarm in Berkshire Coun-ty, the owner of which was troubled by his dog Wolf. The cur killed his sheep, knowing, perhaps, that his master was conscientionally op-posed to capital punishment, and he could deposed to capital punishment, and he could de-vise no means to prevent it.
"I can break him of it," said Agricola, "if you will give me leave."

"Thou art permitt "Then art permitted," said the honest farmer, and we will let Agricola tell the story in his own

"There was a ram on the farm," said Agricola "as notorious for butting as Wolf was for sheep-killing, and who stood in as much need of moral killing, and who stood in as much need of moral snasion as the dog. I shut Wolf up in the barn with this old fellow, and the consequence was, that the dog never looked a sheep in the face again. The ram broke every bone in his body, literally. Wonderfully uplifted was the ram aforesaid by his exploit; his insolence became intolerable; he was sure to pitch into whomsoever went nigh him. "I'll fix him," said I, and so I did. I rigged an iron crowbar out of a hole in the barn, point foremost, and hung an old hat so I did. I rigged an iron crowbar out of a hole in the barn, point foremost, and hung an old hat on the end of it. You can't always tell, when you see a hat, whether there is a head in it or not; how, then, should a ram? The ram made at it full butt, and being a good marksman from long practice, the bar broke in between his horns, and came out under his tail. This little admonition effectually cured him of butting."—

Feeling a deep interest in a favorite cadidate, the father, who was evidently opposed to the boy's preference, stood at the ballot box, and challenged his right to a vote, on the ground of his not being of age. WHERE'S JACK!—While Judge Johnson was in the most interesting part of his argument yesterday, he suddenly stopped short and said:

"Where's Jack! This stone floor is too cold for my feet. Jack, heat me a board."

Amid the laughter which followed, Jack, the Messenger, heated a board for the gentleman to stand upon. Fixing himself upon it, the Judge remarked he hoped the ladies would not think he was growing old. Though his extremities would get cold, he could assure them that he had warm blood in his heart. He proceeded with his argument, and in the midst of a beautiful appeal to the jury, abruptly remarked—

THE VOICE OF THE TURTLE.—A Kentneky preacher rose to speak, and opened the Bible. The first verse that met his eye happened to be, "The voice of the turtle shall be heard in the land." "Brethering," said he, "at first sight one would not think there was much in this text; but, on a little consideration, you will see there's a great deal in it. Now, you all know what a turtle is. It you've been along by a pond, you have seen them on a log sunning themselves. Now it is said, 'The voice of the themselves. Now it is said, 'The voice of the turtle shall be heard in the land.' But the turthe han't any voice that anybody ever heard, so it must be the noise he makes plunging off the log into the water. Hence we conclude that im-mersion is meant, and that immersion will be-come universal."

EHERIDAN, to test the acoustic qualities of a new theatre he had built, desired the carpenter to speak on the stage, while he would go and listen to him from the gallery. CAPTAIN MARRYATT, in his novel of "Midship-man Easy," relates how horrified Mrs. Easy was when the young woman who proffered her services as wet nurse, blushingly informed her she was neither wife nor widow. The laws of Pennsylvania, as of New York, recognize Sanday as the Christian Sabbath, on which labor and trade shall cease. The present is an asspicious moment to take the action. The Cabinet was necessarily formed with great haste; the elements in it are incongruous, and a majority of the men composing it do not care a whit whether the party is conciliated or not. More than one of them gave no cordial support to the election of President Hayes. If the President is as anxious to maintain the harmony of the party as he professes to be, let us have a new deal. 17 A new theory of the Hamburg massacre is related by the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette. The investigation which the Senate is to make will not unlikely throw some new light on this page of South Carolina history.

First, the gold speculators break down the price of silver by demonstrzing it, and then, when its value is reduced, they cry out against remonetizing it, because it is, as bullion, worth less than gold as money. But relegalize it, and its value will go up and that of gold come down. But the monometalists do not want gold to come down; they desire it to go higher, so they can sell out the debtor class and "gobble" twice the property they loaned. There must be harmony between the Administration and one or other of the two great parties. The Executive cannot go it alone without reference to the National Legislature. This is practically as impossible in the United States as it was recently found to be in France. Indeed, we ought to have some amendment to the Constitution which would make Cabinet Ministers partly responsible to Congress. This has been found necessary in all countries in which the legislative authority is vested in a Parliament or Congress.—New Fork Graphic.

The MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO, have the honor to announce that the organs of their manufacture have been unanimously assigned "the FIRST RANK in the RETERAL REQUISITES of instruments of the class" by the Judges at the CENTERNIAL EXHIBITION AT Philadelphia, 18-76, and are the ONLY INSTRUMENTS OF THIS GENERAL CLASS AWARDED THIS RANK. This is after the severest competition by the best makers, This is after the severest competition by the best makers, before one of the most competent juries ever assembled. They have also received the MEDAL, but, as is well known, medals of equal merit have been awarded all articles deemed worthy of recognition; so that it will be easy for makers to advertise that they have received "first medals."

Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs have uniformly been awarded the highest honors in competitions in America, there having been scarcely six exceptions in hundreds of competitions. They were awarded highest honors and
